LET US GIVE YOU A SECOND OPINION

Keene Dentistry & Implants

Do Missing Teeth or Uncomfortable Dentures Sacrifice Good Nutrition & Healthy Eating?

While you may get by with missing teeth or uncomfortable dentures, you may not realize the damage it's doing to your nutritional intake and may be causing digestion issues. Chewing breaks down food, allowing for easy digestion. When food is not broken down small enough, incomplete digestion takes place causing nutrients to not be absorbed and undigested food can cause bacteria in the colon. Along with those missing teeth, denture wearers have a difficult time chewing nutritious foods such as fruits, vegetables, tougher meats, peanut butter, and nuts. You may avoid eating healthy foods because of missing teeth or uncomfortable dentures, but you are also missing out on nutrients that are essential to good health.
